The Morgan Mill was one of the many mills that processed Comstock ore, and one of the closest to Carson City. It was situated near the town of Empire at the bend of the Carson River. The V&T Railroad passed right by the mill to deliver ore from Virginia City and for many years the thunderous noise of the mills and the roar of the train rang out day and night keeping this small yet important town very busy. This is part of the rich heritage of Empire City and Empire Ranch Golf Course, and we are happy to preserve this history in our course. Thank you to all in the community who submitted names and for all the thoughtful suggestions and ongoing support!
