2021 PGA/USGA RULES OF GOLF WORKSHOPS

For the 2021 season, PGA/USGA Rules of Golf Workshops will be held virtually during the traditional time of January through March. While we explored in-person options, we were unable to commit to doing so safely given the number of uncertainties surrounding COVID-19.

The virtual PGA/USGA Workshops will include a reimagined workshop experience as well as the opportunity to take the 80 and/or 100 question exams. Registration will open in early November and the fee will be $375. Below are the planned components of the virtual workshop:

Full access to the USGA Virtual Rules School starting from when you register through the end of March.

Ability to choose a specific active cohort week, which will include:

- Daily 1.5 hour webinars with your PGA of America and USGA instructors
- A dedicated email address with same-day (or faster) responses to questions during your active week
- A Facebook group community page to interact with your cohort members and instructors (optional to participate in the group)

The ability to take either the 80-question or 100-question exam at home via a virtual proctoring experience. We also continue to explore options for a traditional, in-person exam-taking experience with more information to come.
